AmericInn of Munising, Michigan Receives Delight Award at Annual Franchise Convention

Chanhassen, MN (May 14, 2007) – The AmericInn of Munising, Michigan achieved top honors as the recipient of the Delight Award at the 2007 AmericInn Annual Convention. The conference began April 29, 2007 and was held at the Crowne Plaza Riverfront and Roy Wilkins Auditorium in St. Paul, Minnesota. The three-day event drew more than 670 attendees who discovered “The Promise to Delight & The Power to Deliver”.

The theme of this year’s convention was selected to highlight the people aspect of the AmericInn business. The Delight Award is given to the AmericInn location for their outstanding service and ability to provide guests with a delightful experience. Hotel owners, Gary and Betty Zinter along with general manager, Alyssa Schertz accepted the award on behalf of the entire staff at the AmericInn of Munising. “This is the first year we have honored property efforts of delighting guests with outstanding customer service,” said Arnold Angeloni, CEO of AmericInn International, LLC.

AmericInn has received many positive letters from guests that have stayed at the AmericInn of Munising; one specifically commends staff members, Liz and Roger Bykowski for their remarkable hospitality. The letter states that after a day of snowmobiling over 170 miles, two travelers ended up at the AmericInn of Munising. That afternoon and evening, the weather warmed up and the trails became impassable. The travelers had no way of getting back to their truck and trailer. After hearing about the problem, Liz and Roger offered to drive the stranded guests back to their truck; 170 miles each way, on their day off. Liz and Roger have raised the meaning of hospitality to a new level. “The AmericInn of Munising continues to excel as an industry leader by exceeding guest expectations and delivering delightful experiences,” adds Angeloni.
